Hull and the Spanish Civil War

This exhibition, produced by the International Brigade Memorial Trust with the support of members of the Hull International Brigade Memorial Group, recognises the bravery of ten people from Hull who volunteered to serve in the fight against Fascism in the Spanish Civil War. Students from Hull School of Art and Design will display work inspired by the propaganda of the war.

16 July -
30 August

Having fun: A photographic exhibition of leisure and entertainment in Hull through the years

Using photographs from our archive collections, the exhibition will provide a glimpse into how the people of Hull have spent their leisure time over the years, from participating in sports, enjoying the city's parks, to visiting the city's seasonal attractions such as Hull Fair.

2 - 27
September

War Without Glamour: Emily Hobhouse's Peace Activism, 1899-1926

This exhibition uncovers Emily Hobhouse's contribution to international peace, humanitarianism and South African politics, including her work in Germany following the First World War. Through her remarkable writings, most vividly her book 'War Without Glamour', it tells the story of her life-long commitment to revealing the devastating impact of war on women and children.

8 October -
16 November

For those in Peril on the Sea: Caring for Hull's Seafarers

Inspired by two recently catalogued collections, this exhibition will explore how our local community has provided for the welfare of seafarers in Hull since the mid-19th century.

25 November
- Jan 2020

Banyamulenge Community

This community exhibition considers the life in Africa and presence in Hull of the Banyamulenge people.
